Culture, social, business – one, two or three?

A black and white photograph showing two men in dark, possibly wet, suits standing on either side of a large, framed sign. The sign is mounted on a wall with peeling paint and cracks. The men are holding the sign's frame. The sign contains the text: 'THE 'EARTH' WITHOUT 'ART' IS JUST 'EH''.

'EARTH'
WITHOUT
'ART'
IS JUST
'EH'

Creative Neighbourhood Sydhavnen

It's all about...

- Co-creating: Bridging not only curriculums and different actors, but also different areas of creative industries – and even outside the CCSI.
- It's local in Filmbyen and Sydhavnen, between cities in the neighbourhood, national (VisionDanmark and Design business cluster), in Scandinavian and EU...(one inter-campus University Alliance).
- Unlearning
- The triple transition in Europe: Green, Digital and Social...

Inspiration: John Newbigin (Creative England)

Old World

- Big is beautiful
- Failure is expensive (and a disaster)
- Physical infrastructure is vital for success
- Consumers must trust producers
- New public management (public choice, effect)
- Teachers deliver learning
- Researchers deliver (peer) research

New World

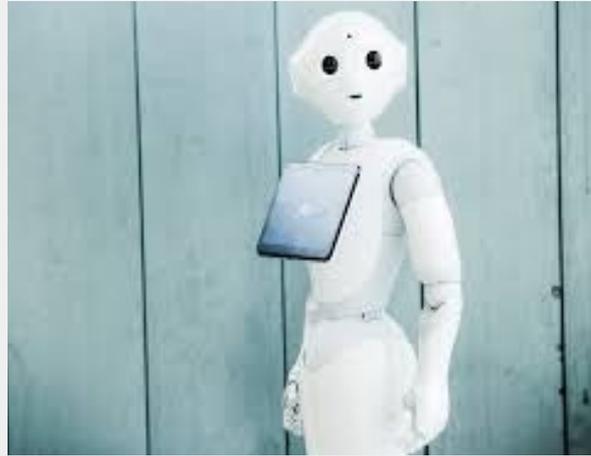

- Small is clever
- Failure is cheap (and the best teacher)
- Social infrastructure is vital
- Producers must trust consumers
- New Public Governance ('kreative partnerskaber')
- Teachers ...?
- eh...Researchers delivers...?

If you are able to describe your job, it will disappear! (new jobs new skills)
